Early Release

This week students will continue our study on living things. We will start the second unit in our module where we will learn about living things that depend on trees.

Our focus in math this week will continue to be 3D shapes. Your child should be able to name and identify the 3D shapes we have learned. They should be able to build these shapes using playdough. They should be able to tell about how various 2D and 3D shapes are alike and different. We will celebrate our shape learning on Wednesday with a special shape snack. Our assessment will be on Thursday. We will then have a pre-assessment for the next unit on Friday.

We will celebrate Read Across America Day on Friday, March 1st. Your child is invited to dress up as a favorite book character and bring that book to school that day. We will have a small parade through the halls. Please refrain from wearing masks or dressing as characters that might scare others. No weapon props can be used.

How can you help support us at home?

Please be sure that you are doing the fluency activities (in your child's purple folder) with your child at least 3 times per week.

Work on sight words daily with your child!

You should be reading with your child and letting your child read to you, daily.
